- You or your immediate family members cannot have ever worked in the past 10 years for Harris Teeter nor currently work for any other local grocery retailer.

Grocery Store: General Organization & Restroom

- Pay attention to the parking lot and front end to observe if associates are providing carryout service, assisting customers in another manner in the parking lot, or actively retrieving carts.
- Look around the grocery store in general to assess whether it appears well kept and organized.
 - A single display or part of a shelf can need organization, and that's okay. Only assesses the large-scale presentation of the store. Unless an entire aisle or department looks disorganized or not maintained, the store can be considered organized.
- Photo: Discreetly take a photo of any entire aisles/areas in need of organization.
 - Do not allow associates to see you taking the photo.
 - Do not photograph any areas that an associate is actively resetting or organizing.
- Visit the restroom before visiting individual departments. All stores have public restrooms.
 - Look for cleanliness and maintenance issues that are long-term in nature (e.g., soiled toilets, overflowing trash cans, excessive debris, missing supplies, or buildup of dirt).
 - Do not assess any issues present due to recent use within the last hour (e.g., unflushed toilets, water on the mirror or sink counter, or paper towel remnants on the floor).
 - Toilet tissue, hand soap, and paper towels OR a working hand dryer should be available.
 - Some locations have built-in hand dryers that look like wings on the faucet.

Grocery Store: Sales Floor Associate Interaction

- Only assess associates in Harris Teeter uniforms, not vendors stocking shelves, sushi chefs, etc.
- Get the name of every associate you encounter. Stand in clear sight of the associate so they can see you and you can see their nametag.
- Associates working on the sales floor/in the aisles should acknowledge customers as they pass unless they are actively conversing with or assisting another customer.
 - Pay attention to any associates you come within 10 feet of and within their line of sight.
 - Do not assess associates who are actively engaged with other customers.
- Required: Ask any associate (just one, anywhere in the store) who is not behind a counter or register to help you find an item.
 - Associate must be on the sales floor and wearing a Harris Teeter uniform (not a vendor).
 - Ask about any item the store sells, as long as it's not within sight of where you're standing.
 - Allow the associate to fully assist you (walking you to the item or getting other help).

Grocery Store: Produce Observations

- Check the freshness of the produce in the department as a whole.
 - Look at the unpackaged fresh green wall. Check the greens to ensure they appear wet and crisp (no dryness, rusty edges, or wilting).
 - Check the cut fruit cooler, and also look at the strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, and grapes on display for any signs of mold.
 - Photo: If any freshness issues are noted, discreetly take a photo out of sight of associates.
- Look for items you would normally purchase to confirm everything you usually shop for is in stock.
 - Only answer No if an item is out of stock, as indicated by an empty spot with signage. Do not answer No if an item is not carried in the store.
- Note whether an associate is available in Produce at any point during your observations.
 - You do not need to interact with them unless you have a question of your own to ask.
 - The purpose is to confirm that customers who need help can easily get assistance.
- Note whether the Produce floor is clean and dry. Minor debris on the floor mats is acceptable, provided it does not pose a safety hazard.
- Evaluate the overall Produce department cleanliness. This includes the produce displays and wet rack, which should all appear neat and clean. Do not include the floor in this assessment.

Grocery Store: Bakery-Deli Interaction & Observations

- Assess the cleanliness of the Bakery and Deli areas. Both should be clean, stocked, and organized in a way that implies associates are tending to them regularly.
 - Check all Bakery displays (donut case, cakes, and tables) for stock and organization. Bakery floors should be clean and dry.
 - Assess the refrigerated Deli displays, cheese shop, fresh slice case, and pizza area. Deli floors should be clean and dry.
- Visually assess the freshness of the Bakery and Deli products.
 - Bakery products should not appear dry, discolored, or have any signs of mold or condensation in their packaging.
 - Deli items should not appear dry, discolored, or have any signs of mold.
 - Photo: If any freshness issues are noted, discreetly take a photo out of sight of associates.
- If an associate is not present after waiting 5 minutes at the Deli counter, go to Customer Service and ask for a Deli associate to be paged.
- Required: Either ask a question or buy at least ¼ pound of sliced meat or cheese from an associate at the Deli counter.
 - If you ask a question, your question must be about an available item in the service case.
 - If you make a purchase, your order must be placed with an associate at the counter and sliced while you wait. (Kiosk orders or pre-sliced meat or cheese are not acceptable.)

Grocery Store: Meat-Seafood Interaction & Observations

NOTE: A full-service Meat or Seafood counter has a display case with items for sale that a customer is unable to select on their own. A case that only contains items a customer could take without assistance is not a full-service counter.

- Assess the cleanliness of the Meat-Seafood area. It should be clean, stocked, and organized in a way that implies associates are tending to it regularly.
- Assess the Meat-Seafood display case(s), freezers, and bins for stock levels and organization. Floors across the Meat-Seafood department should be clean and dry.
- Observe the freshness of the meat and seafood items. Products should not have any signs of dryness, discoloration, or freezer burn.
 - Photo: If any freshness issues are noted, discreetly take a photo out of sight of associates.
- If an associate is not present on either the Meat or Seafood side of the counter, press the service button. After pressing the button or if no button is available, wait at the counter for 5 minutes. If an associate is still not present, go to Customer Service and ask for a Meat or Seafood associate to be paged.
- Required: Either ask a question or buy any meat or seafood item from an associate at the counter, such as ¼ lb. shrimp, a single fish fillet, ½ lb. ground beef, or a single chicken breast.
 - If you ask a question, it must be about an available item in the service case.
 - If you make a purchase, your order must be placed with an associate at the counter and packaged while you wait. (Kiosk orders or pre-packaged items are not acceptable.)
- You can interact with an associate at the Meat or Seafood counter, no need to assess both.

Grocery Store: Pharmacy Associate Interaction

- If the store has a Pharmacy, you are required to evaluate it during your visit.
- Join the line at the Pharmacy counter to assess the wait time vs. the number of customers.
- When assisted, ask the Pharmacy associate the two required questions:
 - Required question #1: Ask the location of an over-the-counter (OTC) medication.
 - Example: “Can you tell me where I can find (Tylenol PM/Excedrin/Advil/Mucinex)?”
 - Do not ask about a product within sight of where you’re standing.
 - After the entire interaction, follow the directions given to see if they’re accurate.
 - Required question #2: Ask a specific question about the product you asked to locate.
 - Examples: “Does it have any side effects that I should know about?”, “Will it cause drowsiness?”, “Will it help with migraines/muscle aches?”, etc.
- Pharmacy associates will be dressed in black scrubs and/or a white lab coat. The nametag should clearly identify the associate as a Pharmacist or a Pharmacy Technician. Associates dressed in red Harris Teeter shirts are not Pharmacy associates.

Grocery Store: Checkout Interaction & Observations

- After selecting 3 or more items, check out using the method listed in your confirmation.
 - If an associate directs you to use a different method for quicker service, please decline.
 - If unable to use your assigned method, check out using any available method.
- If you use self-checkout, confirm a self-checkout associate is present. They may be at the front of self-checkout or recruiting customers from full-service lanes.
- Get the cashier or self-checkout associate's name from their nametag (or from your receipt).

Fuel Station Instructions

- If assigned to evaluate Fuel Station, you must evaluate it right after leaving the grocery store.
- Join the line at the kiosk to assess the wait time compared to the number of customers in line.
- Purchase a small item at the kiosk to get a receipt as proof of shop.
 - A few stations only sell tobacco products. If you visit one of these, purchase a tobacco product or a small amount of fuel (pay the cashier, not at the pump).
- Get the Fuel associate's name from their nametag (or from your receipt once printed).
- Required: Choose one knowledge question from the list below to ask the Fuel associate.
 - They don't need to give the exact answer below, but their response should be accurate.

| Question | Correct Response |
|---|---|
| What is the fuel points program? | Customers can accumulate fuel points for shopping at Harris Teeter and using their VIC card. Customers can receive fuel savings of up to $1 off per gallon (35 gallon max) on a single fuel purchase. Fuel points are earned by making grocery purchases and using the VIC card. Every dollar spent on participating products accumulates one fuel point. |
| How do I earn fuel points? | There are three ways to earn fuel points: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Purchasing groceries at Harris Teeter (normal exclusions apply); $1 in groceries = 1 fuel point. 2. Double fuel points for gift card purchases (normal exclusions apply). For example, $25 in gift cards = 50 fuel points. 3. Non-federally funded prescriptions: 1 prescription = 50 fuel points. Federally funded prescriptions earn 1 point for every $1 of your out-of-pocket costs for new, transferred, and refilled prescriptions. *Note that customers will receive 150 fuel points for 90-day prescriptions. |
| How do I redeem my fuel points at a Harris Teeter Fuel Station? | Simply scan your VIC card under the card scan or key in your Alternate ID on the keypad. After presenting form of payment, you will be prompted on how you'd like your discount applied if you have more than 100 points in either this month's balance or last month's balance. |
| When do my fuel points expire? | Fuel points earned in the current month expire at the end of the next month. Fuel points do not combine across months. Each month is a separate accumulation period. Fuel points earned in separate months cannot be combined in the same transaction. |
